USyd-U of T Ignition Grants
Guidelines for Applicants

Purpose

As strategic partners, the University of Sydney (USyd) and the University of Toronto (U of T) are committed to achieving impact through collaboration in research and education.

The Ignition Grants are a new initiative to support researchers from USyd and U of T to facilitate and support collaborative projects that develop multidisciplinary cutting-edge research to create academic and societal impact.

These grants are designed to provide researchers, in particular early- and mid-career researchers, with the opportunity to work with our strategic partner in developing joint research projects.

It is expected that all funded projects will evolve into larger scale projects, sustained by leveraging external funding. Evidence of external funding submissions will be required in project progress and final reports.

In the first round, up to five (5) projects may be funded:

- Each project will have two teams led by chief investigators, one from USyd and one from U of T.
- Projects may start from 1 December 2023 and run until 30 September 2025.
- The maximum award will be AUD 50,000 per project with AUD 25,000 from USyd and the equivalent of AUD 25,000 in CDN from U of T.
- Funding would be allocated in two tranches, each to the amount of up to AUD 25,000. The release of the second tranche is dependent on the review of a progress report and milestones from the first 9 months being met.

Preference will be given to teams which include PhD or masters by research students, postdocs, early- and mid-career researchers and researchers on sabbatical leave, rather than one-to-one research projects.

Projects which are multidisciplinary in nature and seek to address the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals or have a focus on research related to the following thematic areas are strongly encouraged:

- Climate-positive energy and sustainable mobility,
- Sustainable and inclusive cities and communities, vulnerable populations,
- Public health and health policy, rehabilitation and health aging,
- Indigenous studies
